South Dakota Stop First of Western Tour

President Claims U.S. About To Enter 'Decade of Crisis'

PIERRE, S.D. (AP)—President Kennedy declared today the nation is entering a decade of crisis and "we cannot afford inefficiency and waste. We cannot afford endless debate and delay."

Standing beside South Dakota's vast Oahe Dam—the first stop in a weekend swing through the West—Kennedy pictured the country as in a race with a challenge.

And he urged in his prepared address that all parts of the economy pull together or else "the American people will be the losers."

Said Kennedy: "If the railroads prevent coal slurry pipelines from conveying the resources of our mines—if the mining interests prevent the use of nuclear energy for public and private transmission—if public and private power interests veto each other's progress, or if one region refuses to permit another to share in its abundance—then we shall be entering a decade of challenge and crisis with an inexcusable, vulnerable attitude of waste."

Kennedy noted that the Oahe Dam was the fifth of six great dams to control the mainstream of the Missouri River and to generate electrical power to nine states.

And he said, "The key to this century is power—power on the farm as well as the factory—power in the country as well as the city."

From here Kennedy flies further west, to Pueblo, Colo., and Merced, Calif., to look at more water projects and at least take a peek at the political picture.

The White House calls Kennedy's trip nonpolitical and the government is thus picking up the tab. But the President also has his eyes on the senatorial contests in South Dakota and Colorado and the race for governor between former Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Gov. Edmund G. Brown.

In his speech here today Kennedy dropped a plug for old friend George McGovern, former food for peace director, saying he had served ably in the job.

Democrat McGovern is facing Republican Sen. Joe Bortum in South Dakota's Senate race.

The formal objective of Kennedy's weekend journeying back and forth across the continent was visits to the $345-million Oahe dam and power plant on the Missouri River just north of Pierre, the $170-million Arkansas-Fryingpan water project in Colorado, and a dynamite-powered ground breaking for the $511-million San Luis dam and canal system in California's San Joaquin Valley.

The President does his San Luis speaking and dynamite firing chores Saturday, at the dam site west of Los Banos.

He flies to Castle Air Force Base at Merced this afternoon, whirling by helicopter to beautiful Yosemite Valley to spend the night, and takes the chopper again in the morning to Los Banos.

The helicopter will backtrack to Fresno, where Kennedy will make a few remarks at the airport before boarding his jetliner and winging down to Los Angeles.

Aides said Kennedy had no official activity slated for Los Angeles—only some time with his sister, Patricia, and her husband, actor Peter Lawford, at their Santa Monica home.

Los Angeles is the home port of Nixon. And there probably isn't anyone Kennedy would rather see take another political licking than the man he barely kept out of the White House in 1960.

Consequently, California has been tabbed for some outright political activity on Kennedy's part later in the campaign.

On this trip, though, Gov. Brown has a prominent role among the Kennedy welcomers and in the San Luis ground-breaking ceremony.

Moscow Is Decked In Carnival Attire

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet capital donned carnival attire today for the arrival of the Soviet space twins, Maj. Andrian Nikolayev and Lt. Col. Pavel Popovich. Soviet officials announced that their big parade will come Saturday.

The astronauts' families have already been brought to Moscow for the festival. The celebration got an added boost by the announcement that air force day, previously scheduled for Sunday, will be moved forward to Saturday. Both astronauts are air force pilots.

The astronauts themselves have been flown from Karaganda, their landing area in Kazakhstan about 1,500 miles southeast of Moscow, to a nearer undesignated base. There they continued to rest and to undergo examinations of the effects of weightlessness during their record orbital flights that kept them in space four and three days.

Both were reported feeling excellent and apparently sprucing up for the big reception. A brief shot on Moscow television showed Nikolayev lathered up, as a barber stood by to shave his growth of beard from four days in space.

The bright weather that prevailed in Moscow during most of the astronauts' flights gave way Thursday night to rain, but preparations went ahead for their triumphal arrival. Red Square was full of cranes and construction machinery as platoons of workers threw up viewing stands and other trimmings that go with Moscow celebrations.

Tradition calls for the nation's newest heroes to be flown to Moscow in a big plane with a fighter escort. Premier Khrushchev will meet them at Moscow Airport and ride with them into the city where thousands will jam Red Square to cheer them. Khrushchev, who has been vacationing on the Black Sea, has already promised to meet the space twins in Moscow. Diplomatic quarters predicted

W. 4TH STREET DUE FOR REPAIRS. Frequent complaints of residents of the bumpy condition of W. 4th St. between Howard and Jennings Ave. are expected to end soon as the result of a project announced today by Mayor Dean Cranmer. The dirt street will be graded extensively, a sewer manhole lowered 8 inches, and the new surface stabilized with calcium and rolled. The street is pictured above, with the inset photo showing one of many "chuckholes."

Schirra Will Go Just 6 Orbits

Plans Unchanged For U.S. Spaceman

BLACKSBURG, Va. (AP) — A top American space official says astronaut Walter M. Schirra Jr. will be limited to six orbits of the earth, no matter how well his Project Mercury flight goes.

"The mission is scheduled for recovery near Midway Island after six orbits, and that is the way it will be flown," D. Brainerd Holmes, director of manned space flight programs for the United States, said Thursday.

Thus, the fact that two Soviet cosmonauts zipped around the earth for three and four days will have no immediate effect on the U.S. program.

Holmes said Schirra, a Navy commander, will be launched on his space venture in the middle of the end of September. His will be the only six-orbit mission, the space chief said. The next Mercury flight will be for 18 orbits and take a full day.

"I will commit to you that this nation will be second to none in the conquest of space," Holmes said.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration official told his audience at Virginia Polytechnic Institute he was somewhat surprised at the reaction of many qualified people to the Soviet achievement.

"If we felt that this was surprising, then we were selling the Russians short," he said. "What they have done can be traced in every aspect to a large payload of considerable capacity and reliability, fired over and over again. They did it—something we could not do. Far from belittling the Russians, one should have expected it."

Holmes defended Mercury astronauts John J. Glenn Jr. and Malcolm Scott Carpenter against complaints voiced at the conference here that, as military test pilots primarily, their scientific findings had been disappointingly thin.

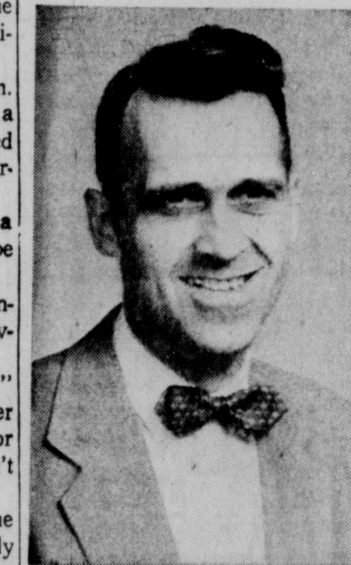

The complaints were coupled with a suggestion that NASA train scientists as future astronauts.

"Glenn and Carpenter didn't just sit there and stew about whether their retro-rockets would get them back to earth," Holmes said. "They went about their missions with keen interest, and made good observations."

Holmes said it would be impossible to include scientists among the first Apollo crews unless they were qualified to act as pilots.

In great detail, he outlined the steps by which three U.S. astro-

Payne, who is 40 and has been a teacher and administrator for 13 years, succeeds Dr. Russell Armitage, who went to Newark in a similar capacity.

The new Lisbon school superintendent is a World War II veteran and a native of Aurora in Portage County. The Lisbon board gave him a year contract at $10,000.

Reds Release Five Americans

Had been Captured During Laos Dispute

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—Five Americans and a Filipino held captive for more than a year by pro-Communist forces were released today.

The men, who had all grown beards during their captivity, were cheered by a crowd of several hundred as they emerged from the twin-engine Soviet plane that brought them to Vientiane from Pathet Lao headquarters in the Plaine des Jarres.

Those released were Maj. Lawrence Bailey, Laurel, Md., assistant military attaché at the U.S. Embassy in Vientiane; John McMorrow, Brooklyn, N.Y.; John Shore Jr., Galloway, Tenn.; Sgt. Orville Ballenger, Columbus, Ohio; NBC cameraman Grant Wolfkill of Shelton, Wash., and Lorenzo Frigillana of the Philippines.

All six appeared to have lost considerable weight.

Wolfkill left soon after Bangkok en route to the United States. NBC correspondent Jim Robinson, who accompanied him, said Wolfkill would leave Bangkok for New York as soon as possible.

The other Americans and Frigillana were flown to the U.S. Air Force Clark base north of Manila for a medical checkup and interrogation.

Wolfkill, Shore, McMorrow and Frigillana looked healthy and in good spirits, but Ballenger was haggard and looked tired.

Bailey had to be helped from the plane to the airport terminal. An Army doctor, Maj. Estes Cohen, who made a superficial check of the men aboard the plane, said, "They are all okay except Bailey who is pretty weak."

Shore and McMorrow were civilian employees of the charter firm Air America, which flew for the right-wing Laotian government. Wolfkill was with them when their helicopter crashed behind Red lines May 15, 1961.

Ballenger had been missing since April 22, 1961, when four American military advisers were captured under circumstances the State Department has refused to divulge.

Bailey was captured when his plane crashed March 23, 1961.

Greyhound Bus Runs Into Rear Of Steel Truck

Accident Occurs 2 Miles East of Streetsboro Exit

RAVENNA, Ohio (AP)—A Greyhound bus slammed into the rear of a steel-laden truck on the Ohio Turnpike today, killing one woman and injuring at least 29 persons, four seriously.

The turnpike patrol said the bus, on its way from Pittsburgh to Cleveland, had passed a car and was pulling back into the outside lane when it collided with the semi tractor-trailer. There were 27 aboard the bus.

The vehicles remained upright, but both westbound lanes of the toll road were strewn with wreckage from steel bars from the truck. Westbound traffic was at a standstill for almost two hours until work crews cleared the roadway.

The dead woman, not immediately identified, was a passenger on the bus. Twelve of the injured were hospitalized. At least four were reported in poor condition.

Steve Amicarelli, 42, of Youngstown, the bus driver, received minor injuries. Calvin Lester, 33 of Pittsburgh, the truck driver, was not hurt. He was hauling a load of steel from Pittsburgh to Michigan.

Seven ambulances took the injured to these hospitals—Robinson Memorial in Ravenna, St. Thomas in Akron, Suburban Community and Brentwood, both in Warrensville Heights, a Cleveland suburb.

The accident happened two miles east of the Streetsboro Interchange.

O. C. Hoover To Quit Post At City Hall

Orvil C. Hoover, deputy city auditor for the past two years, has submitted his resignation, effective Aug. 31.

Auditor Helen Coyne said today she "regretfully" accepted the resignation and will name a successor in the near future.

Hoover, who is 70, said he is resigning to devote more time to his investments, real estate interests and gardening. He and his wife, Rebekah, live at 1063 Buckeye Ave.

The deputy auditor's job was created to help handle the increased work load in the auditor's office when the city income tax ordinance was enacted for 1961. Hoover said he is proud of the "small part" he played in the successful initial operation of the tax office.

Before taking over the $5,000-a-year position in the tax office, Hoover had served three years as acting Salem postmaster. A Republican, he was city treasurer 25 years.

Born in the New Waterford-Unity area, Hoover attended Salem Business College before taking a job here in 1909 as a ticket officer for the Stark Electric Rail road. After that, he spent 21 years with the Farmers National Bank, eight years in the brokerage business and 15 years at Home Savings & Loan. He became acting postmaster in April, 1958.

He is a veteran of World War I, having served two years overseas with the first American Expeditionary Forces in England, France and Belgium and later with the Army of occupation.

Mr. and Mrs. Hoover have two children, a daughter Mrs. Lois Luria of Lakeville, Conn.; and a son, Arthur C., of Beaver Falls, Pa., and two granddaughters.

World of Commerce

By JOY STILLEY

NEW YORK (AP)—My young daughter has made a premature entrance into the world of commerce. She is doing pretty well for a 12-year-old, too.

In a financial situation so disastrous that she didn't know where her next ice cream cone was coming from, Gay decided this summer it was essential to chase the wolf away from the door by her own efforts.

Enlisting the aid of two equally indigent friends, she started a nursery camp for youngsters in the neighborhood. Entrance requirements for this establishment were made lenient—any candidate old enough to clutch 35 cents in his little fist was eligible.

The trio of would-be junior capitalists signed up a respectable number of wee ones, with grateful mothers waiting in line to farm their toddlers out for a couple of hours.

From the start the camp has been successful. They earn good money for their efforts. I give mine free.

No more sleeping late for me these days. I have to get up to get the counselor in our household up. The girls graciously agreed to mix the midmorning drink themselves after I balked at that job. But somehow I still fall heir to the task of cleaning up the trail of sugar and sticky spoons they always leave behind.

I'm not a licensed banker, but I am well-trained for the job, having been called on to make change for everything from a nickel to a $10 bill.

Since the camp is held closer to our dwelling than those of the other counselors it becomes the obvious place to supply the comforts of home to the kiddies away from home.

And somehow it's the most convenient storage spot for all the equipment—blankets dripping with grass and cockleburrs, mounds of broken crayons, torn books and lopsided piles of construction paper. I also furnish refrigerator space until refreshment time.

Maybe I won't have to put a stop to it after all, though. The thing may collapse of its own complications.

It seems that at the last camp period Jayne couldn't get there until 50 minutes late. Gay had to depart 15 minutes early for a doctor's appointment. Joan, however, was present for the whole two-hour session.

When last seen the three working girls were sitting on the floor with piles of coins in front of them, pencils and paper beside them. They were dividing the 120 minutes into segments of 10 minutes each, multiplying them by the number of periods each girl worked and coming up with three different answers.

I'd offer to help but I do like to sleep late in the mornings.

Topics of Interest To Farmers; Notes About Meetings

Potato Growers Meet

Over 325 potato growers attended the eastern Ohio potato growers Field Day held Wednesday at the Barth farms, Western Reserve Rd., Poland.

Seventeen exhibitors showed modern potato equipment and various potato operations at the Barth farms were demonstrated. A panel of extension and experiment station personnel discussed timely topics to growers from Ohio, Pennsylvania and Michigan.

The event was sponsored by the Columbiana-Mahoning County Potato Growers Association and the Ohio Potato Growers Association.

Conservation Reports Due

Farmers who have received approval of projects to be carried out under the 1962 Agricultural Conservation Program are reminded that they must report performance of the approved practices in order to qualify for cost-share assistance.

L. L. Moff, chairman of the Mahoning Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee, points out that "new" participants, particularly—who have not been doing conservation work on their land in recent years, may overlook the fact that ACP cost-share assistance is not automatic just because the work was approved earlier in the year. Also, practices requiring lime and fertilizer will not be approved until the soil test is on file in the county office. Performance of the practice must be completed and reported to the ASCS County Office by the date shown on the notice of approval.

This year a total of $43,640 was allocated to Mahoning County for conservation practices to be carried out under the 1962 ACP.

As of last day of July, practices had been reported as complete on 81 county farms.

Everybody Feels Better Now

President Kennedy wanted two results with his speech on taxation.

First, he wanted to make his fellow taxpayers feel their present and future burdens would be endurable. He wanted to make his fellow taxpayers feel good.

Second, he wanted to avoid saying anything that might cause loss of confidence elsewhere. Hundreds of millions of people in this world look to U.S. taxpayers and their government for cash and credit to keep them going. If they and the shrewd and not always scrupulous men who do their financial guesswork doubted that Uncle Sugar was inexhaustible there might be an international money cataclysm that would make what happened in the '30s seem like an earth tremor by comparison.

As far as can be seen or guessed at this time, President Kennedy got both his results.

HE MADE his fellow taxpayers feel that their burdens are bearable by refusing to go along with the hue and cry that their burdens had become unbearable. There will be no tax relief this year. We must grin and bear it.

This psychology is certified sound by many practitioners who use it routinely—doctors, dentists, infantrymen, long-suffering wives, also husbands, and managers of losing ball clubs. Chin up Dry those tears. Actually, not many of Mr. Kennedy's countrymen ever believed the politicians who had been talking about a quickie tax cut. They were fishing for quickie votes anyway like the labor leaders and corporation directors who chimed in with them.

There would have been no uprising if taxes had been cut, but neither will there be any uprising because they're not going to be cut.

It's not the taxes of the moment that are unbearable but the prospect of bearing tax inequities forever and ever that stifles enthusiasm. For many years the one idea about taxes that has made sense to all taxpayers is that the government should replace its jerry-built tax structure with a new one of modern design.

It has been the fixed belief of little, medium and gigantic taxpayers that taxation could be collected more successfully under a rule of equity and a pattern of logic than it is being collected under a rule of defeating the geese according to a catch-as-catch-can rule.

THIS HAS BEEN accompanied, as are all strong thoughts about taxes, by a strong popular conviction that if the government collected what it should from the chislers on the other side of the street it could forego all collections on this side of the street, populated only by the virtuous.

It also has been accompanied by a familiar theme that taxes constitute such a drag on the American way of life that if they were dispensed with there would be a spectacular release of Yankee energy that would carry the nation onward and outward to the maximum limit of human capacity.

With more equitable taxes, or preferably with no taxes at all, the sky would be the limit.

This has been an article of faith—an American credo.

It finally has been honored by a presidential promise to push hard for tax reform, beginning next Jan. 1 with all fruits of the reform to be collectible starting on the same date.

It has been backed up with bright promises of a budget to be balanced with large-scale reductions in defense and agricultural outgo plus the proceeds from a stimulated economy.

EVERYBODY now feels better about the future.

If the present leaves much to be desired in the way of equity and more spendable income, so be it. Help is on the way.

When it finally arrives, of course, taxation still will leave something to be desired, but it's too soon to think about that now.

Cost Plus Equals Fair Price

Word from Washington is that the Kennedy administration's threatened investigation of everything about the steel industry is being systematically sidelined. Only one investigator is still showing signs of curiosity — Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee.

The Senate Antitrust and Monopoly subcommittee on steel has circulated questionnaires calling for detailed information on steel pricing. A significant issue is involved in this line of questioning.

The Kefauver subcommittee is said to be hoping to find out how much it actually costs to pour a ton of steel. It is asking for detailed information on the per-ton cost in 1931 is against the per-ton cost in 1954:

THIS IS IN line with the senator's curiosity about "administered prices," which he criticizes. These are prices that have only an indirect relation to costs.

Recognition Due

F. P. (Fritz) Mullins, who has completed 12 years as a member of the Salem Utilities Commission, is to be commended for his conscientious, devoted service on the municipal body.

Mullins, a daily commuter to Pittsburgh, where he is employed, has always been active in lending support and direction to important civic matters in his home community. For many years served as a member and president of the Salem Board of Education. More men would do well to emulate him.

Although realtor Joseph Fisher, his successor on the commission, met Council's unanimous approval after the mayor's nomination, it is unfortunate that Mr. Mullins must step aside.

The Great Hush

By Truman Twill

Pardon me if I get wistful about something. For the umpteenth time a reader has asked for a clipping of a column written long ago—"The Great Hush."

I have no more idea than a rabbit when "The Great Hush" was published. I remember the idea and refer to it each year about this time. But no Twill clippings ever have been put away, except for a few hundred at the beginning and those were mislaid many years ago.

Requests for clippings cannot be complied with, unless they are for columns that appeared only a few weeks before. In that case there always are a few papers still lying around from which clippings can be made. Otherwise, the only way to take a second look is to find the original on the microfilms.

But about The Great Hush . . .

We heard it again last night on our hillside. My daughter-in-law was hearing it for the first time. How did I know? Because she was sitting very still, with her head thrown back, hugging her knees in a little-girl position.

Finally she asked what the dominant sound in the hush was, and I told her it was a tree frog and the secondary sound was crickets. She didn't refer to it as the "hush" because she was hearing it for the first time. She didn't understand.

When she's older she will think of it as the "hush"—when she realizes that the "hush" is the paradox of sound-filled soundlessness that bemuses us thoughtfully once each year a summer sinks into the climatological coma called autumn.

For example, a neighborhood child who mixes a pail of lemonade and sells it at the curb to a neighborhood clientele is charging an administered price. There has been no cost accounting whatever.

A diamond priced at so many thousand dollars because of its desirability has been given an administered price. Sen. Kefauver has been especially critical of prices set in this way. He would have the diamond sold at cost-plus — and the cost and the plus both would be under scrutiny.

It is his view that if a fair price is cost plus profit the profit should be regulated. And in the current instance it is his view that the government should know what the actual costs are, in order to determine what it considers an allowable profit.

THIS WOULD BE administered prices in reverse — administered by government price-fixers. Such a system could hamstring a producer hopeful of expanding his enterprise with homegrown capital taken out of profits. It would make every entrepreneur a competitor of his own government in accountancy—his accounting vs. government accounting.

It Should Help

The directors of the Salem United Fund have used good judgment in not increasing the amount for the community chest campaign in October. The $82,000 goal will be the same as last year, with the quotas of the participating "red feather" agencies remaining unchanged from previous budgets.

The fact that there has been no increase should encourage Salem residents to give their fair share when the UF canvassers call at their doors about two months hence.

Gradually, all meaningful sounds fade away and there is nothing left to listen to but the meaningless noises of the few seconds of eternity we're permitted to share. There is nothing worth listening to, yet nothing evokes more nostalgia than what we hear. Records of crickets, tree frogs and cicadas are standard dramatic effects. They can create a lump in the throat and an ache in the heart.

The reason is because of man's memories of sounds during his long, shuffling procession through the corridors of time—aeons before there were any sounds to hear than the small ones made by nature's rudimentary elements.

Birds had not begun to sing, nor men to chatter, nor the impedimenta of modern life to rumble and clatter. All that was heard was the almost inaudible murmur of earth itself.

To be heard it has to be listened to closely, though it was always there in the memory recesses of the human mind. That's what happens when The Great Hush heard for the first time. Memory is stirred.

There is a matching of memory and reality.

"The Great Hush" is what it was ten thousand times ten thousand years ago and will be when that much more time has elapsed. To hear it is to be on pitch for the eternal symphony—the sound of existence—the residue of everything that ever has been heard when finally there is nothing left to hear.

Listen to The Hush some August night at dusk. That's the best time.

Look, Doc . . . Ya Gotta Get Him In Shape For Fall!

Our Readers

Commission's Statement

We were shocked, amazed and perturbed at the Salem News article Aug. 7 regarding the sewage plant and sewage operations. As the article appeared under the byline of one of your staff and quoted no other source of information, it must be assumed that you accept the responsibility for the article.

To spread a scare headline that the sewage plant was falling apart, even if the statement were true, would seem to be a great disservice to the city, and particularly to the loyal, energetic citizens who have worked so hard to bring much-needed new industry to our town.

Since it is questionable that anyone of the News' staff would have the technical knowledge or experience to criticize sewage plant or sewage operations, one must assume that the article was inspired by others, perhaps with a subtle political motive. In our opinion the article was irresponsible and inaccurate because it was not checked with the utilities commission nor with the superintendent of utilities; inaccurate because in the opinion of our utilities superintendent and of our former chairman, himself an engineer, there are no really costly repairs required at the plant.

While difficulties have developed from time to time with different items of equipment, the plant at all times has been adequate to handle all the sewage running to it and to meet state requirements in regard to the operation and quality of the effluent discharged from the plant. The plant is under periodic check by state engineers.

If there are any structural design defects in the plant equipment, it is not the fault of the utilities commission as we had no choice in the selection of the engineers. In fact, the commission unanimously voted to select other engineers but were overruled by the administration.

It is quite true that the operations of the Sewage Division have been running at a loss, and unless the volume of business picks up substantially, it will be necessary to raise rates, since surplus funds were available, the Commission has deferred recommending a rate increase in the hope that greater volume would in time place the operation on a self-supporting basis.

Both council and the trustees of the bond issue have been informed of the situation. The trustees of the bond issue, who has the authority under bond indenture to force us to raise rates, sent two men to Salem to inspect the plant and operations. After this inspection they were content to go along with us on the basis which we were operating. As a matter of fact, Salem has a very low sewage rate compared to other communities in Ohio and elsewhere.

We think your article was unfair because the superintendent of utilities was away on vacation and the chairman of the commission had recently resigned because of ill health. The former chairman of the commission is an engineer who understood the technical operations of the plant and gave a great deal of his time to conscientious and intelligent supervision of the operations. We who have worked closely with the superintendent over the years believe that he is a very capable and devoted public servant and one who should not be harassed but should be supported and encouraged to stay in Salem.

We hope in the future if you, anyone in the administration, or any intelligent citizen has any criticism of either of Salem's utilities you will bring your criticism to the Utilities Commission. We promise that you will receive a sympathetic hearing and that any defects in equipment or faulty operations will be immediately investigated and, if necessary, corrected.

The operation of our water and sewage department involves complexities that would be indeed difficult to discuss in this letter. It is our wish to specifically answer the charges contained in your article in the immediate future and also to discuss other phases of our operation and answer the questions that many of our interested citizens have raised in recent months.

Frank P. Sabol
F. P. Mullins

EDITOR'S NOTE: We said in our story that major repairs are likely to be needed at the city sewage treatment plant, that part of the equipment installed in 1957 is inoperative, that there is little or no money for repairs, that the sewage plant has been operating at a loss and that Salem residents may be faced with an increase in sewer rates. These true facts were well-written by a reporter who spent a week on the story and tried unsuccessfully to meet with Utilities Superintendent Aubrey Hayes, who knew that the reporter was writing a story about the sewage plant. The superintendent scheduled an appointment with the reporter for Aug. 6 but didn't keep it. The story was an objective report to the citizens of Salem and was NOT intended to discredit the Utilities Commission.

Suggests Checking Stream

After reading the articles in The News about the condition of the Disposal Plant concerning its operation or non-operation, I would like to suggest to all concerned to check the pollution of Beaver Creek at the Benton Road before the sewage runs into it and at the Kent Road after.

I think this will answer the question of the condition of the disposal plant.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: Is it possible that some people are not cut out for marriage? I'm beginning to think I'm one of those people.

I'm a woman 45 who has been widowed three times — twice grass and once sod. In all honesty I must count the last marriage a failure because it was heading for the rocks when my husband died.

I could have sworn that each of my marriages would last forever. I believed myself to be madly in love every time. This is what frightens me. How does a person know?

The man I'm going with now is wonderful. I'm crazy about him but I'm afraid to accept the ring he's been carrying in his pocket for five weeks. He has had two marital flops, which gives us a combined total of five failures.

I'm extremely happy when I'm going with a man, but once we are married everything turns sour. Can it be, Ann, that marriage is not for everyone? — DISENCHANTED

Dear Disenchanted: Marriage is NOT for everyone. In fact, this is the title of a chapter in my recent book.

A successful marriage is not a matter of luck. It is an achievement. Marriage demands a mature response to obligations and not everyone is equal to it.

Some women (and men, too) enjoy the glamorous and romantic aspects of courtship. They imagine it will continue forever. When reality klops them in the chops (diapers in laws, doctor bills, mortgages) they become disillusioned and bitter.

Marriage is not for the self-centered, the coward, or the unloving. It is only for those who know how to love — and give.

You Asked for It

Dear Ann: Will you kindly explain who pays the baby sitter when a man takes out a widow? Here is what happened and I would like your opinion.

It was my very first date with the woman. We had a lovely time and I knew I'd be asking her out again soon. Just to be polite I offered to pay the baby sitter when we got back to the house. I was dumbfounded when the woman held out her hand and said "Why of course you can pay her. That will be $3.25." I've been paying the sitter ever since.

This woman has a nice income and she owns her own home. She works parttime to keep busy and is not hard up for money. I'm not hard up either, but the principle seems wrong.

Since she is just as well off as I, do you feel it right that I should be stuck with this obligation?—NOT A MILLIONAIRE.

Dear Not: The woman should pay her sitter, but if you were not sincere in your offer you should have kept your bazoo closed. Now it's a little late to

Disguised Tragedy

Red Space Feats Deprive Russians of Food

The Soviets claim they sent two astronauts round the world. They developed the stunt primarily for propaganda purposes.

What did the United States do to counteract this? A big opportunity was lost due either to timidity or a lack of realism. The truth is the reports of the sending of two men into multiple orbits emphasize a tragedy and not a triumph inside the Soviet Union.

To take away from the 200 million people of the Soviet empire, for adventures in space, billions of rubles that should be spent to advance their standard of living—to give them decent housing and adequate food—is to commit a crime against humanity.

The privation throughout Russia is well known. Similarly, the terrible hardships being borne by a neighboring people in Red China are also being revealed daily to the whole world. Yet the Moscow government ignores the suffering of the Chinese people even as it ignores the acute needs of its own population.

DOES ANYBODY know just what benefits, scientific or otherwise, are to be gained from such trips around the earth that could not just as well have been deferred until the needs of the people were first satisfied? How can there be any convincing comparison that the category of expenditures in space is greater in value than the spending of the money necessary to care for 200 million people?

The United States, on the other hand, has funds enough for a vast armament program and for exploration of space without depriving the people of essential services.

The sums are growing too large, but in the main this country can afford them. The Soviet Union cannot.

The reactions of the people in the Soviet Union to inadequate standards of living are not much different from those which would be manifested by the people of this country.

If in America there were food shortages, if two or more families were being crowded into one-family apartments, and if automobiles were lacking for most everybody and clothing too expensive to be replaced except once in three or four years, would people be made any happier if they read that billions of dollars were being spent for space stunts?

Unfortunately, the American propaganda effort is too much influenced nowadays by a cult in Washington which is afraid to speak out forthrightly for fear of "increasing tensions."

There is, however, a distinct difference between war talk or discussions of military potential-ties, on the one hand, and a positive and emphatic expression of criticism about internal economic conditions in the Soviet Union.

THE RADIO stations of the West which broadcast across the Iron Curtain are often jammed by the Communist regime, but word-of-mouth comments do penetrate. Hence, if the United States had called attention to the wasteful expenditures by the Soviet government in its excursions into space, these comments would eventually have penetrated into the furthest recesses of the Soviet Union.

But what was the officially expressed reaction to the Russian stunt? The highest officials here went out of their way to praise the Soviet feats. It would perhaps have been wiser to have adopted the attitude of former President Truman, who was quoted the other day as saying it was a great stunt "if true."

It can well be questioned how much is real and how much is simulated. Even television pictures can be prepared in advance and fake broadcasts arranged beforehand.

Clyde Farnsworth, in a dispatch from Vienna to the Chicago "Tribune" on Aug. 14, says that the purported TV micro-frequencies whereby the faces of the two astronauts were shown actually "passed through Moscow for pictorial conversion and rebroadcast in Western Europe via Eurovision." He adds:

"The 'in flight' pictures which Americans saw were videotaped or filmed in London from that broadcast and then physically flown to the United States as tape or film."

"If the hypothesis of doubting observers is correct, these pictures were made safely around — or in previous flights — and two other men, possibly even Yuri Gagarin and Gherman Titov, were actually in orbit this time. . . .

"If the astronauts actually had TV cameras in orbit, it should have been fairly simple to furnish the frequencies and schedules of which pickups would be possible and let European and American television networks make the most of them. They probably would have. . . . It was not like them (the Soviets) to miss a good bet if they could help it."

THERE WAS no opportunity for direct communication by any foreign station with the Russian astronauts. All communication was limited to Soviet tracking stations.

The mystery is why, in the face of America's frank disclosures when Glenn and Carpenter took off and returned from their globe-girdling journeys, the Soviets have continued to refuse to let anybody in the foreign press see the start or finish of these flights.

The feeling in the Moscow government is that the Russians must do every space stunt ahead of America. They know what the space program of this country plans to achieve and when. The Soviet game is to get the publicity at any cost. That's why the misguided purpose of the Soviets in seeking propaganda results at the expense of 200 million human beings ought to have been emphasized by the United States in comments on the latest episode.

Hints From

Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Folks: For those who have carpet sweepers, here is a little hint that will help them get a cleaner rug. If you will turn the sweeper over and look on the bottom, you will find that it is full of lint and thread. I have found that if I take my scissors and "clip" all of the threads at intervals, they will easily pull out!

Another little hint: If you also have a vacuum cleaner . . . after these threads are clipped . . . the end nozzle may be removed from the vacuum and all the residue from the sweeper will be sucked out.

Now, here is the best of the bunch: the brush on carpet sweepers is removable. I wonder how many women have ever thought that it needs to be washed once in a while? I wash mine in nice detergent suds and rinse in vinegar water. (There's your old vinegar again!)

Put the brush in your kitchen window and let it dry thoroughly. Place back in your carpet sweeper and you will find that you not only have a cleaner carpet but a new sweeper as well.

HELOISE

DEAR HELOISE: Here is an idea for short women who have to wash their own car. I am less than five feet and I wash the top of the car with my string mop! (No matter how many boxes I stand on, I still cannot reach the top center of the car).

I have found the string mop does not scratch the car, has saved me many falls and is quite satisfactory.

WIFE CAR WASHER

Dear Heloise: For those who have chandeliers that get coated with fly specks, I find I can remove the fly specks by sponging the chandelier with alcohol. I rinse this with soapsuds and then polish dry.

Now, here is the real secret. When polishing, if you will put a little oil on your cloth the fly specks won't stick next time.

HOUSEKEEPER

DEAR HELOISE: With twins in high chairs, I have found the answer to mothers stooping to pick up the toys that the children seem to enjoy throwing to the floor.

I now tie a string to each toy and tie it to the chair. When the babies throw the toys on the floor, mother doesn't have to stoop any more. I just pull the string and throw the toy back on the tray.

MOTHER OF TWINS

DEAR HELOISE: I know people say to put a knife in the end of a curtain rod to thread curtains. But I have found that I can clip off the finger of an old glove and place this on my rod in my house and it will allow the fabric to slide on the rod easily.

BENNINGTON

DEAR HELOISE: For the mothers who take naps when their babies are asleep and cannot stand the telephone ringing . . . I discovered that if the telephone has the bell in the phone itself, it can be placed on a pillow and another pillow placed on top of it. This absorbs the tingling of the bell and lets mother and kiddies sleep.

The Doctor Says

By DR. H. T. HYMAN

Questions And Answers

Q—I am 44 and, although I'm active and generally in excellent health, I wake up every morning with pains across the upper part of my chest and sometimes across the shoulder blades.

These pains go away as soon as I get up and move around. I recently had an electrocardiogram and a chest X-ray and was told they both were normal. Have you any idea what causes my pains and what I can do to get rid of them?

A—Since you had an X-ray and an ECG, I must assume that your doctor examined you at the time the tests were made, and also that he could find no explanation for your distress.

If this is so, it's more than possible that you are suffering the results of some postural defect. You might try using a bed board beneath your mattress. And, if that doesn't work, get a new mattress—preferably, one designed for the specific purpose of avoiding back strain.

Q—I used a well-known sun tan lotion on my face, hands, arms and legs. Before I even exposed myself to sun, I began to burn severely. For the past week, I have been suffering the effects of the burn. I asked the local chemist, who recommended the product, to have the contents analyzed but he told me he was not equipped to make this analysis. Can nothing be done to prevent others from suffering as I suffered?

A—If you will send the name of the product and preferably what remains of the content of the container to the director of the Food and Drug Administration, care of the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, Washington 25, D.C., you will get prompt and efficient service. Your local pharmacist cannot be expected to analyze the thousands of products he has necessarily to stock.

Q—Can you tell me something about vitamin products (the letter names them but I shall not) that are sold in our community by one of our neighbors?

A—Let me first ask you whether you think your neighbor-salesman is qualified to determine whether or not you have a vitamin or mineral deficiency and, if such a deficiency exists, the nature of your body requirements?

According to an investigation reported by the Council on FOODS of the American Medical Association and conducted by the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) the products you mention are sold in a nationwide door-to-door campaign by salespersons who are "not qualified to instruct or advise on health matters."

As a result of this investigation, the FDA had United States marshals seize two lots of the product on charges "growing out of a sales agent's promotion of the product for cancer, alcoholism, ulcers, arthritis and other diseases."

Another FDA seizure included not only the products but a book written by a vice president of the corporation.

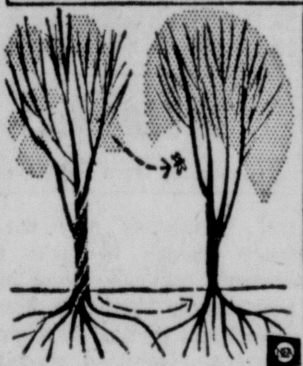

The AMA report concludes with the statement that the apparent success of this corporation and others like it "not only attest to the skill of their sales technique but to the gullibility of the American public."

First record of measurement of atmospheric pressure with a barometer was given in 1643 by Evangelista Torricelli, who had been an assistant of Galileo.

CUT WEAK OR DEAD BRANCHES FROM NEARBY ELMS TO CHECK SPREAD OF DISEASE

Throughout the U.S., the most noticeable sign of Dutch elm disease is the wilting of one or more branches. When observed, quick action is necessary to protect healthy elms nearby.

There is no hope of saving the infected tree. Many die in the same season that infection occurs; few live to the second season.

Outlined above is the procedure for protecting healthy elms by reducing the areas in which the bark beetle can flourish and spread the epidemic.

Humphrey

Inc., a New York firm which supervised retention and destruction of all Hanna company records, said he was shocked by testimony that any records vital to the stockpile inquiry had been destroyed or were missing.

Under prodding of Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., chairman of the Stockpile Investigating subcommittee, Shiff conceded he had not been present in February and March — shortly after the Senate inquiry got under way — when some Hanna records were destroyed.

Symington read earlier testimony by Walter H. Henson, head of a team of government auditors working on the stockpile probe, that checks and invoices had disappeared and Henson had been unable to find them or get a satisfactory explanation.

Both Humphrey and Marting have testified that copies of all such destroyed documents were available and could be seen by the investigators.

Symington finally ruled that all the Hanna officials as well as subcommittee investigators should get a chance to clear up the details.

Earlier, Humphrey emphatically disputed testimony that the Hanna company made more than $34-million profits from the stockpile nickel contracts, signed in early 1953 just before he became secretary of the Treasury in the Eisenhower administration.

Humphrey insisted that Hanna profits, after taxes, amounted to $7.5 million over a seven-year period and he said a return of "25 or 30 per cent" for a raw material company was not excessive.

The Cleveland industrialist said both Hanna and the government benefitted from the nickel project.

Sweden OK's Abortion for Mrs. Finkbine

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — Sherri Finkbine was told by Sweden's Medical Board today she can have an abortion here to end a pregnancy she fears will bring her a drug-deformed baby.

"I can't say how happy and relieved I feel," she said, tears streaming down her cheeks. "A heavy burden has been lifted from me."

It was not announced when the operation would be performed.

The 30-year-old Arizona housewife and television performer burst out crying when her teacher husband Robert brought her the news.

"It has been a great strain for her," Finkbine said while he was trying to comfort his wife. "Now we just hope that the operation can take place as soon as possible and that this affair can be forgotten. We have no other wish than to start a normal life again when this is over."

Finkbine also expressed thanks to the Swedish doctors and the Royal Medical Board for sympathetic appreciation of the case.

"We are glad that there is a country in the world where doctors act like this in spite of the enormous publicity our case has received," he said. "I admire the medical board for having considered our applications just like any other case. Sherri has been very near a complete breakdown these days in Sweden and I think it is a miracle that she has endured the long hard strains."

They arrived here Aug. 5 after Arizona courts declined to sanction an abortion there.

Mrs. Finkbine said she had taken a tranquilizer drug—thalidomide—which has been blamed for deformed babies born in Europe. She had obtained the drug abroad.

The Ohio Highway Department will hold a public hearing Thursday Aug. 30, at 2 p.m. in the council rooms of the village hall at Lisbon to discuss a proposed 0.24-mile relocation of State Route 172 east of New Garden.

Division 11 Deputy Director William P. McKenna will conduct the hearing.

Americans

Frigillana, an Air America mechanic, disappeared in December 1960, during fighting between neutralist and right-wing forces for control of Vientiane.

Pathet Lao chief Prince Souphanouvong had promised their release following last month's Geneva accord, sanctioning a coalition government for Laos and pledging the country's neutrality.

A few minutes after the six men arrived, American military officials whisked Shore, McMorrow, Ballenger and Frigillana away. Bailey and Wolfkill stayed behind to talk to newsmen.

Bailey, 38, said he bailed out of a plane which was transporting seven other Americans before it crashed. Speaking with great difficulty, he said he did not know what went wrong with the plane and he was afraid all others aboard had died.

Bailey said when the Pathet Lao first captured him he was held in a house in eastern Sam Neua Province and given enough food. But for the past 11 months, he said, he was confined in a cell which had only a very small window.

Bailey said his captors never beat him, that the only maltreatment was continuous questioning.

Wolfkill, 39, said the helicopter in which he was flying with Shore and McMorrow, made a forced landing at Ban Veung San, about 40 miles north of Vientiane.

"We made a hasty landing," he said, "and nobody aboard was hurt, thanks to Shore"—the 30-year-old pilot. McMorrow, 20, was the crew chief.

He said they left the helicopter in the jungle and without warning were surrounded by Pathet Lao troops.

The three of them were held for 11 months in a room which had no light in a place near Xieng Khouang, the Pathet Lao headquarters in the Plaine des Jarres.

Wolfkill said they spent terrifying hours under the watchful eyes of young Meo tribesmen guards who, he added, "were full of hatred and roaming around with their rifles loaded and firing at random."

Wolfkill said that for days they were given only rice and salt to eat.

"Our condition improved when we were moved last April 6 to a Viet Minh camp," also in the Xieng Khouang area, he continued.

"Viet Minh soldiers more or less did abide to international conventions for war prisoners," Wolfkill said.

Ten other Americans are known to have disappeared in Laos between December 1960 and March 1961. Six were believed killed in a plane crash, but there has been no information on the other four.

nauts into simultaneous orbit because NASA has only one Mercury-Atlas launching pad.

But, he added, NASA probably would not choose to do it with an Atlas booster, even if it could. The Mercury spacecraft, he said, is considerably smaller than the Soviet Vostok spaceship and would not be able to support life as long as the Soviet craft.

Holmes said that Apollo space-men who approach the moon in the "bug" will be able to change their minds about landing at the last moment should conditions on the moon appear to be too dangerous.

Should the "bug" lose its propellant power, he said, the two men would be able to escape from the capsule and grab lifelines to transfer back to the mother craft, which will be capable of going after them if they are in trouble.

Holmes said the "bug" would detach from the Apollo craft at an appropriate time when it is in orbit 100 miles above the moon. The two men would fly close to the lunar surface, hover a minute, and, if they wished, still could get back to the mother ship before it was out of sight.

The first Apollo mission will spend only one day on the moon. Holmes said some consideration is being given to landing on the moon during the "earth-glow"—that is, at night, to avoid the problem of intense heat.

that Khrushchev may use the space triumph to make some dramatic political gesture in the near future. There has been no official hint of what it might be. However, there is speculation Khrushchev may announce his intention of going to New York for the U.N. General Assembly meeting, which starts in September, with the expectation of meeting President Kennedy without the burdensome formality of preparing a four-power summit conference.

Khrushchev's aim, diplomatic quarters indicate, would be to try to get broad public support for the Soviet version of how to disarm and of how to settle the German and Berlin problems.

Missing TV Set Is Found In Lake

A television set and telephone taken from the Salem Country Club clubhouse sometime early yesterday morning were discovered in the nearby lake about 4 p.m. by two fishermen.

Perry Township Constable John Herman, who investigated, was checking for fingerprints today in an effort to trace the vandals who forced open a door to the clubhouse and took the TV set, the phone and coin box and coins from vending machines in the building. The coin box is still missing.

Herman, who patrols the township on regular schedule, saw nothing amiss when he inspected the club grounds at 3:30 a.m. Thursday, although he admits the thieves could have been hiding near the lake. The spot where the articles were found was about 15 feet from the shoreline.

Reserve Catcher Paces Dodgers To 7-3 Win Over Bucs

Giants Lose 6-0; Cincy Tops Braves

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer
Reserve catcher Doug Camilli, inserted into the starting line-up for the first time since June, may have pulled Los Angeles' bedraggled forces together just in time for the Dodgers' invasion of Cincinnati tonight and a four-game series with the Reds.

The right-handed swinger responded to the call by driving in four runs, and powering the National League leaders to a 7-3 triumph over Pittsburgh Thursday night that ended the Dodgers' longest losing streak of the season at five games.

Camilli, 25, whose father Dolph played for the then Brooklyn Dodgers in the late '30s and early '40s, gave the Dodgers a 3-3 tie with a sacrifice fly in the fourth inning, stroked a two-run single that put them out front in the sixth and added a home run for insurance in the eighth.

Camilli's efforts provided the Dodgers with an added buffer going into the Cincinnati series, boosting their edge over second-place San Francisco to 2½ games while leaving the defending champion Reds 5½ behind.

The Giants were beaten by the Chicago Cubs 6-0 as Don Cardwell made it 11 victories in the last hurled a six-hitter. The Reds 12 games with a 7-1 triumph over Milwaukee.

In the only other NL game, St. Louis used Larry Jackson's five-hit hurling to end a five-game losing skid by defeating Houston 3-1. Philadelphia and the New York Mets were not scheduled.

Cardwell (6-1) struck out eight while walking only two and coasted to his second triumph over the Giants backed by a 15-hit Cub attack. Ken Hubbs, Dick Bertell and George Altman each collected three hits against Billy Pierce (11-4) and two successors.

Robinson Continues Slugging
Frank Robinson continued his slugging with home runs Nos. 30 and 31—for five in the last four games. The Reds broke it open with a six-run fifth inning against Braves' starter Lew Burdette (9-9) as Leo Cardenas smacked a two-run triple, winning pitcher Jim Maloney (7-4) singled home one run and Robinson drove in three with a homer.

Bill White's third single knocked in Julian Javier and broke a 1-1 tie in the eighth inning as the Cardinals whipped the Colts. The only run off Jackson (10-10) was unearned. Colts starter Dick Farrell (8-15) was ejected for arguing on ball and strike calls while pitching to Stan Musial.

Clinic Planned For Morning League Pitchers, Catchers

All pitchers and catchers assigned to Morning League teams as well as anyone else are invited to attend the pitchers and catchers clinic at 2 p.m. Saturday at the Reilly Field diamond. Special instructors will conduct the clinic.

PRACTICE SCHEDULE
(All teams meet at 10 a.m.)
BUCKEYE: Monday—Blues and Reds; Wednesday—Greens and Whites. REILLY: Monday—Orange and Blacks; Wednesday—Yellows and Browns.

Hot Stove Leagues

The Electric Furnace and Eljer scored victories in the Class F Shaughnessy Playoff series Thursday and now will meet today at 6 p.m. on the Memorial South diamond for the playoff championship.

THE FURNACE NINE, which finished second to the Elks for the league title, rolled over Sekely's 12-1 while Eljer upended the Farmers Bank 7-5.

A four-run rally sent the Furnace crew into the lead in the second canto and the winners coasted to victory.

The winners pushed three more runs across the plate in the fourth and finished up with five tallies in the sixth.

John Mason paced the Furnace attack with a triple and Chuck Alexander chipped in with a double.

Alexander was the winning pitcher as he fanned seven and allowed Sekely's only two singles. Jack Hurray and Dave Long collected the singles for the losers.

Eljer overcame a 2-1 Farmers Bank lead in the third inning with a three-run surge. The Bank tied the count at 5-5 in the sixth but the winners managed to tally two runs in the last of the sixth to lock up the victory.

LEADING the winning rally for Eljer was Dave Fleisher with a double and Joe Rottenborn and Reed Votaw with a single apiece.

Votaw along with Bob Mellinger rapped three hits each to pace the 10-hit attack for Eljer.

Dave Gittleman with a triple and Chuck Cushman with a double featured for the Farmers Bank.

Bigger Parks Reason For Trend

NL Hitters Trying To Meet Ball-Stan

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—One of the great hitters in the game today says National League batters are not swinging for fences this season as they have in other years since the advent of Babe Ruth.

"I know there are still a lot of homers being hit, more than ever before maybe, but I've seen more hitters this year just trying to get good wood on the ball than I've seen for a long time," Stan Musial said Thursday.

The Cardinal hitter, who across 20 years in the majors has always termed himself a singles hitter but holds and threatens many slugging records, said he thought the larger ball parks were the biggest reason for the new trend.

"Take your park right here for example," Musial continued referring to Colt Stadium. "A hitter is kind of foolish to try and concentrate on home runs." (It is 360 feet along the foul line to either right or left field fences at Colt Stadium).

"I think, too, a club like the Dodgers this year has shown that you can win a lot of games with defense and line drive hitting." Musial pointed out. "Then there is Pittsburgh. The Pirates have been doing pretty well the past few years without a whole lot of homers.

"In Chavez Ravine, for instance, the pitchers want you to hit the ball. They want you to go for the home run, too, because when you do most of the balls you hit are just big, long flies to the outfield. It's percentage to concentrate on meeting the ball, to go for the line-drive single, double or triple rather than try to hit the ball out of the park."

Allen's Hit Beats Yanks; A's Trim Nats 13th Time In Row

Tribe Loses; McGaha Blasted By Funk

BALTIMORE (AP)—The shake-up is on with the Cleveland Indians.

And with it came the first public blast at manager Mel McGaha by anyone connected with the club.

Relief pitcher Frank Funk was sent to Salt Lake City of the Pacific Coast League Thursday and right-hander Dave Tyrivier was called up from that club.

Mel Called "Worst Manager" "He's the worst manager I ever saw" Funk said of McGaha upon hearing he was headed West. "And I'm not the only guy on the club who feels that way. Almost everybody does. That's why we're going so bad."

The Indians completed their dismal series against Chicago by dropping one at Cleveland Thursday, 11-6. The White Sox scored seven runs in the first inning to they took the series 3-1.

Starting pitcher Mudcat Grant couldn't get a man out, giving up four singles and two walks. Three runs had scored and the bases were loaded when Ruben Gomez relieved Grant.

Gomez yielded a walk and a two-run single before the ninth batter of the inning was thrown out on a bunt. Bill Dailey replaced Gomez in the seventh and finished up.

The Tribe collected 12 hits, including homers by Jim Mahoney, Jerry Kindall and Ty Kline. The Sox scored two more runs in the fourth and two more in the sixth.

Dick Donovan (15-5) goes against Baltimore's Milt Pappas (10-8) here tonight in the first of a three game series.

Sullivan Wins 3rd In Row

Big Frank Sullivan got credit for his third victory without a loss Thursday when Minnesota's Bernie Allen looped a one-out single to left field in the 10th inning, driving in the run that beat the New York Yankees 9-8.

It was Sullivan's third appearance against the Yankees this season and they haven't got a hit off him yet. He's credited with one victory and two saves against the World Champions.

Chicago beat Cleveland again, 11-6, and Kansas City won its 13th straight over Washington, 4-2, in the only other American League games scheduled.

The Twins' victory over New York trimmed the Yankees' leading margin to 5½ games over idle, second-place Los Angeles. The third-place Twins, who were in danger of falling hopelessly behind, now trail by 6½.

Saves Three Games

Sullivan, who is 6 feet 7, picked up from the Philadelphia Phillies, has to rank as one of the big reasons the Twins are still close. He's either won or saved the game the last three times Minnesota beat the Yankees.

Ed Radow (11-13) limited Washington to four hits but had some control trouble as the A's pushed their record against the Senators to 15-3. The A's broke a 2-2 tie in the fifth on Ed Charles' triple and Jerry Lumpe's double. George Alusk's single drove in another for insurance.

Murray Rose Smashes Men's Marks

Records Continue To Fall In AAU Swim Championships

By DICK CICCONE

CHICAGO (AP) — "I really didn't know I was going that fast, but I wanted to break the record," commented 16-year-old Carolyn House, whose 18:44.0 performance in the 1500-meter free style Thursday frosted a record breaking opening day of the National AAU Women's Outdoor Swimming Championships.

Murray Rose, Australia's 1956 and 1960 Olympic champion, cracked the listed American 400-meter freestyle record and a U.S. 200-meter freestyle relay team bettered an American mark set in 1935 in the men's international invitational.

Today's schedule promises another day of record-smashing as Robyn Johnson, 16, Arlington, Va., goes after the 100-meter freestyle title she won last year.

Jean Dellekamp of the Indianapolis Athletic Club returns to defend her 200-meter breaststroke title; Nina Harmer of Philadelphia will defend her 200-meter backstroke crown and Barbara McAllister shoots for Joel Lenzi's 3-meter diving crown.

In what may be the day's top race, Donna De Varona, the darling of the 1960 Olympic team, defends her world record in the 400-meter medley.

Miss House, in successfully defending her 1500-meter title, topped a world mark of 19:02.8 held by Sweden's Margareta Rylander, set in Upsala, Sweden in 1961.

The blonde Los Angeles lass was pushed to her record peak by teammate Sharon Fineman, 16, of the Los Angeles Athletic Club, who also bettered Miss House's listed American mark of 19:45.0.

Rose, the 23-year-old water marvel, splashed through the Portage Park pool in 4:16.1 erasing for the second time in a week the listed American mark of 4:17.5 by Japan's Tsuyoshi Yamanka. Rose was timed in 4:17.2 at last week's men's nationals. The world mark is 4:15.9 by Jon Konrads at Sydney, Australia in 1960.

In the 200-meter freestyle relay the U.S. "A" team of Steve Clark, Santa Clara; Ray Padavon, Southern Illinois University; Dick McDonough, Villanova, and Steve Jackman Minnesota, ripped the water in a remarkable 1:37.1, topping a 1:44.0 set by a U.S. team 27 years ago in Osaka, Japan.

On Wednesday the Class F Stars dropped a 7-5 battle to Seavakeen. The F Stars would like to play any Class F or E teams in exhibition tilts. Interested parties are asked to call ED 7-9415.

OUR BOARDING HOUSE

A word from THERON at the Country Store

You do not owe me your business, I must earn it.

Ten years ago I went into business in a room no larger than a living room. We did a nice business from the first day because there was a need for a place like ours.

At that time I had to charge more because I couldn't buy right. It hurt me when I took the customers money.

Today we don't have to feel bad. So many times the customer says, is that all, I thought it would be more.
